

Special Education Department Policy Updates and Reminders

All Undergraduate Special Education Program courses require the following minimum requirements:

Course Grade: New Policy effective Summer 2009

- Students must achieve an overall course grade of B- or better on all undergraduate courses within their special education concentration.

Course Artifact: Effective Spring 2008

- Students must achieve a B- (achieves standard) or better on their course artifact(s).
- Students are allowed only one re-submission within the semester enrolled, according to the timeline established by the professor.

Failure to achieve minimum standards on both the course grade and the course artifact will require the student to repeat the course in its entirety (including practicum hours and all course requirements) before the candidate can proceed to further courses in special education.
